Idaho State Highway #95

MILE	KM	ITEM	SUMMARY	MILE	KM
0.0	0.0	Junction of Highway # 12 (The Northwest Passage Scenic Byway)	City of Lewiston, Idaho. West to Idaho / Washington State Line. Lewiston, Idaho is located at the confluence of the Snake and Clearwater Rivers at an elevation of 738 feet above sea level. The valley is rather narrow with a range of hills to the North sloping abruptly to about 2,000 feet above the valley floor. The celebrated Lewis and Clark Expedition brought Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark to the Clearwater Valley in 1805. Lewis and Clark embarked on a search for a trade route through the Northwest. They followed the Clearwater River from the Bitterroot Mountains to its merger with the Snake River, the site of the present day twin cities of Lewiston, Idaho and Clarkston, Washington.	116.6	187.6
0.0	0.0	Junction of Highway # 12 (The Northwest Passage Scenic Byway)	South to Hells Gate State Park. Quiet and grassy campsites along the shores of the Snake River await campers to Hells Gate State Park. There are 93 campsites within 100 yards of the Snake River, offering shade trees and grass. Power and water hookups are available at 64 sites. All sites include picnic tables and barbecue grills. There are modern restrooms with showers and a nearby dump station.	116.6	187.6
